Preface

The Economic Reference Tables provide annual data series on the main economic and financial aggregates over the past few decades. The Fiscal Reference Tables, which were once published as part of this document, will be published with or after the release of the Annual Financial Report of the Government of Canada. In addition, some tables have been dropped as an economy measure.

The information contained in the majority of the tables is as provided in Statistics Canada's Canadian Socio-Economic Information Management System (CANSIM) on July 23, 1996. Most data series are periodically revised and users should refer to indicated sources for more up-to-date information.

For other information or clarifications, please call Jeremy Rudin (613 992-2370), Economic Analysis and Forecasting Division, Department of Finance, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0G5.

For queries on computerization and database management, please call Erik O. Hansen (613 992-3603).

(1) The total shown here for Canada differs from the National Income and Expenditure Accounts total for two reasons. First, the statistical discrepancy is treated differently in the Provincial Economic Accounts and the National Income and Expenditure Accounts. Second, the national total includes an expenditure category "Outside Canada", which is not included in the total of the provinces and territories.

Note: The sum of personal income for the provinces and territories excludes the income of Canadians temporarily abroad, including Armed Forces personnel. For recent years the sum of personal income for the territories and provinces may exceed the national figure reported in Table 13 because the national data incorporate revisions that have yet to be made in the provincial figures.

Note: Personal income per capita is obtained by dividing personal income by population at July 1st. The sum of personal income for the provinces and territories excludes the income of Canadians temporarily abroad, including Armed Forces personnel. For recent years the sum of personal income for the territories and provinces may exceed the national figure reported in Table 13 because the national data incorporate revisions that have yet to be made in the provincial figures.

(1) The intermediate goods manufacturing industries consist of the rubber products, plastic products, primary textiles, textile products, wood, paper and allied products, primary metals, fabricated metal products, non-metallic mineral products, petroleum and coal products, and chemicals and chemical products industries.

(2) The final goods manufacturing industries are the food, beverage, tobacco products, leather and allied products, clothing, furniture and fixtures, printing, publishing and allied products, machinery, transportation equipment, electrical and electronic products, and other manufacturing industries.

(3) The energy industries are the crude petroleum and natural gas, refined petroleum and coal products, electric power and gas distribution systems and pipeline transport industries.

Note: Estimates of capacity utilization rates for the pipeline transport industries are not included in the calculation of the aggregate capacity utilization rate for non-farm goods producing sector, since these industries belong to the services sector.

The data do not correspond exactly to the data reported in the National Income and Expenditure Accounts which include a number of adjustments. The data were based on the 1980 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC). Only actual repair expenditures are reported.

Note: Statistics on work stoppages include all strikes and lockouts, whether legal or illegal, which lasted for one-half day or more and amounted to 10 or more person-days of time lost. Time lost by workers indirectly affected, such as those laid off because of a work stoppage by other employees, is not included.

Notes: Data refer to agreements which cover 500 or more employees. The base wage rate is the lowest wage rate covered by the contract. The commercial/non-commercial breakdown employs the standard industrial classification system used by Statistics Canada which organizes establishments according to their principal economic activity. The private/public breakdown classifies contracts according to the industry of the employer. Annual data represent a weighted average of the quarterly rates, where the weights are the number of workers settling in the quarter. Settlements in the construction industry are not available before 1983. Other than in the construction industry prior to 1983, a "----" sign means no settlement.

(1) From 1983 the current account includes retained earnings of foreign corporations owned by Canadians minus retained earnings of Canadian firms owned by foreigners. Thus the data on investment income, the non-merchandise balance, and the balance on current account are not strictly comparable before and after 1983.
